INTRODUCTION

Tianjin Normal University (TNU) is located in Tianjin, one of China's four municipalities directly under the central government, with its city center only a 28-minute high-speed train ride from Beijing. Tianjin is a National Central City and a megacity.

The University is the inheritor of over a century of teacher education legacy. It offers a comprehensive range of disciplines across ten academic categories: Economics, Law, Education, Literature, History, Science, Engineering, Management, Arts, and Interdisciplinary Studies. It boasts modern teaching facilities and a profound humanistic tradition.

The campus is renowned for its elegant environment and unique ecological landscape. This beautiful eco-campus spans 3,500 mu, including 711 mu of lakes and wetlands. It houses a 7,700-square-meter Beijing-Tianjin-Hebei International Chinese Education Center and a 16,000-square-meter modern international student apartment building, making it one of China's largest and best-equipped bases for international Chinese language education.

The University is committed to openness and international cooperation. It was among the first institutions in China hailed as a “Study in China Demonstration Base”. In partnership with the Ministry of Education and the Tianjin Municipal Government, it has established the International Chinese Language Teacher Education College. Together with the Center for Language Education and Cooperation of the Ministry of Education, it hosts the Institute for International Chinese Education Development. It is also an approved China–ASEAN Education Exchange and Cooperation Base and has founded the Tianjin International Chinese Education Development Center. TNU maintains long-term partnerships with 228 universities, educational institutions, and local governments across 40 countries and regions.

TNU is a designated host institution for the Chinese Government Scholarship, the International Chinese Language Teachers Scholarship, and the Tianjin Municipal Government Scholarship. Since commencing its international student program in 1964, the University has accumulated over six decades of rich experience, having educated 80,000 students from 86 countries and regions. Among them are numerous outstanding alumni who have become knowledgeable about China and lasting friends of the country.

Tianjin Normal University places the highest priority on international student education, aiming first and foremost to meet the practical needs of its students. We warmly welcome students from all over the world to TNU and hope your time here will be inspiring and filled with wonderful experiences!
